BOSTON (CBS) – They are coming home by the thousands – young Americans who have served this country in Afghanistan and Iraq.

And some of them end up being treated like criminals instead of heroes.

More and more veterans say the criminal justice system is doing them wrong.

More than 33,000 men and women have returned home to Massachusetts from Afghanistan and Iraq since 9/11.

But all too often the emotional toll of war comes home with them.
